DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed on 12/29/05 has been fully considered and made of record.
2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fraivillig (6,015,607). This rejection is set forth in prior Office Action, paragraph 5, dated 9/30/04.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on 12/29/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
5. Applicant argues (see "remarks" page 6, paragraphs 2-3) that the prior art does not disclose the partially activating the first adhesive layer such that the conductive layer is tack bonded to the film. The examiner disagrees, applicant referred to Fig. 5A of Fraivillig which depicts the above features including a conductive layer 112 being tack bonded to the bond film 100, regarding the partially bonded, one of the ordinary having skill in the area of manufacturing multiple layer PCB by bonding would know to configure the bonding of the conductive layer to an associated bond film including the process of partially bond as discussed above in order to facilitate the fabrication process. Furthermore, it is noted that for the bonding process to be effective the adhesive layer have to be partially activated first and then cured. Therefore, the limitation of “the partially activating the first adhesive layer such that the conductive layer is tack bonded to the film” is met by Fraivillig.

Further, applicant argues on page 7, of the “Remarks” that the prior art single step process versus the two steps bonding process of the present invention. The examiner disagrees, since it is known to the art to simplify the bonding process by providing an adhesive on the bond film prior to the bonding step in order to facilitate the process. Further, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ the two steps bonding process versus one step and so forth, since it has been held that the provision of adjustability, where needed, involves only routine skill in the art. In re Stevens, 101 USPQ 284 (CCPA 1954).

In light of the above discussion, Applicant's arguments with respect to Fraivillig is moot.

Interviews After Final

6. Applicant notes that an interview after a final rejection will not be granted unless the intended purpose and content of the interview is presented briefly, in writing (the agenda of the interview must be in writing). Such an interview may be granted if the examiner is convinced that disposal or clarification for appeal may be accomplished with only nominal further consideration. Interviews merely to restate arguments of record or to discuss new limitations which would require more than nominal reconsideration or new search will be denied. See MPEP 714.13 and 713.09.

It is noted that any amendment made to the disclosure and the claims. Applicant requires to point out the support provide numeral references to the claimed limitations as well as support in the disclosure (i.e., page and line numbers and reference number associated with from the drawings) for better clarity (See 37CFR 1.111 and section 2163.06 of the MPEP).

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
